

Sentence Suspended; Prisoner Fails To Plead His Guilt

"In Prison Long Enough," Judge Informs Joseph R. Bailey, 23

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 13 — When Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite in Quarter Sessions Court Wednesday heard that Joseph R. Bailey, 23, Morrisville, had been in jail here since Jan. 9 after giving a "bad" $10 check, the Court said: "You have been in prison long enough. Why didn't you plead guilty sooner?"

Briley, who pleaded guilty to drawing and uttering a worthless check, testified he sent $10 to William Lewis, Morrisville service station owner, "to make good the rubber check."

"Do you mean to tell me that you paid back the $10 and then stayed in jail until now?" Judge Satterthwaite asked the 23-year-old former Norfolk, Va., worker.

"Yes," said Briley. "At first I didn't want to plead guilty." "Well, that's different," commented the Court.

Trooper George Calderalli, of the Langhorne sub-station of the Penna. State Police, arrested the defendant who wrote the $10 check on Jan. 3 and had it cashed by William Lewis to buy something to eat.

"I was living at the Robert Morris Hotel and I needed some money and I didn't realize that I didn't have any in the bank," said the defendant who admitted that he took a trip south and must have taken more of his bank account than he realized.

"The check came back marked 'no account' from the bank," testified Lewis. Lewis agreed that he received a $10 money order sent by Briley to him while he was in jail here.

Judge Satterthwaite suspended sentence but directed that Briley pay the costs of prosecution.

"You have been in jail long enough and paid the penalty for what you did," said the Court.

New Active Officers Are Formally Accepted

EDGELEY, Mar. 13—At the March meeting of Fraternal Order of Police, Bucks County Lodge, No. 53, held here Wednesday, 30 police officers attended their first meeting conducted by the newly elected officers.

President, Herman Esterline, presided and instructed new officers in their duties for the year.

Committees were established to handle various projects, and their duties were defined. The new active police officers were formally accepted into the lodge, namely, Frank D. Morgan, Yardley; Joseph A. Gallagher and William Schramm, Bensalem twp.

Some new associate members were accepted. $500 was ordered placed in a separate fund for the payment of death benefits.

Ways and means were discussed to cut expenses and rebuild the treasury balance, which has been cut due to repairs and remodeling of the lodge home here during the past year. Names of delinquent members have been removed from the books to prevent the repayment of per capita tax yearly.

During the coming year plans for the new pistol range, swimming beach and new river float for boating enthusiasts will be realized, it was promised by the president, if cooperation of various committees is forthcoming. Refreshments were served and entertainment, in the form of "movies" of Florida water sports were enjoyed.

Youngsters Progress In Building Model 'Planes'

Considerable progress was made by the group of youngsters during Wednesday evening's model building class, held by Bristol Aeromodelers in the club room on Farragut ave. A number of the pupils completed their second model during the evening and adjusted them for flying. Those ready to begin their third model are: Kenneth Lewis, Donald Coles, William Tosti, James Kirk, Albert Rago, John Raccogno, Nicholas Sabatini and Edward Davis.

Members, other than instructors, also found time to work on projects during the evening. Gordon Groff completed his skillfully constructed "Traveler", and Charles Karp was working on a "Ringmaster" control line power model.

This winter has been the most unfavorable one for model flying that the club has ever known, members claim. The members have had only one Sunday flying session since October.

Another class in model building will be held next Wednesday at seven p. m.

Four Fire Companies Planned for Levittown

Committee Will Meet With Levitt to Discuss Fire Station Sites

FAIRLESS HILLS, Mar. 13 — Bucks County Fire Marshall, Robert Graham, was a speaker at a meeting of the first fire company for Levittown, which was held in the station of the Fairless Hills Fire Co. Fire chiefs from neighboring communities also were present.

Mr. Graham said he had been informed by a representative of the State Board of Fire Underwriters that there would be four fire companies in Levittown.

He said he was told one of the fire stations would be located in the Tullytown Shopping Center and another would be in the shopping center at Edgely and Emilie rds.

Graham said locations had not been designated for the other two fire houses, but that William J. Levitt, president of Levitt Sons, Inc., the developers, told him the concern would donate sites for all the fire stations.

Hilton G. Francis, president of the new fire company, which is still unnamed, said the company would suggest to Levitt a site at the northeast corner of Mill Creek rd. and Levittown Parkway.

In a discussion about fire apparatus, Graham said the Fire Underwriters representative insisted that pumps, each with a capacity of 750 gallons, be installed in the new fire houses.

Chief Charles Steiner, of Falls Township Fire Co. 1, objected.

"I think the fire underwriter is going overboard," he said. "He previously declared the new companies would need only light equipment. Doesn't he know what this type of fire equipment costs?"

Steiner said the underwriters held the whiphand and if "you didn't go along with them they could raise the fire insurance rates."

Fairless Hills and Levittown had the lowest fire insurance rates of any community in the area served by volunteer companies. Francis informed the meeting the new fire company had a membership of 30 and about $200 in the treasury.

The company voted to institute a drive for additional funds and for new members. Robert Quinlan, of 10 Walnut lane, Levittown, a combustion engineer at the Fairless Works, was elected assistant fire chief.

A resolution was adopted stating that the new company would be known as the fire company of the Falls township section of Levittown. Another resolution was adopted barring solicitation of funds outside of the territory to be served by the company.

Mr. Graham said a committee is to meet with Mr. Levitt to discuss sites for the fire stations.

Attending the meeting, with Graham and Steiner were Fire Chiefs William Trimble, of Fairless Hills; William R. Sottung, Newportville; John Doster, Edgely; John O'Hear, president of the Fairless Hills Fire Co.; Clifford Watson, chairman of the Falls twp. Board of Supervisors; Bristol twp. Commissioner Fred K. Hibbs; and 30 members of the new company.

Francis said his new fire company has been offered the full cooperation of the Fire Marshall and the surrounding companies. Describing plans for his new company, he said today, "This is an unique situation, because there is no building available within the area for housing any fire equipment. Therefore, unlike other fire companies, we must first concentrate on getting a building."

"As soon as we have a fire house, it will be available as the first."

William Dunn is Named Chairman of the Red Cross Disaster, Planning and Preparedness Committee

The appointment of William Dunn, Langhorne, to the chairmanship of Disaster, Planning and Preparedness, is announced today by Mrs. Arnold Pierre, American Red Cross Branch Chairman of Lower Bucks County.

"Twelve families in Lower Bucks County know only too well through personal experience the grim tragedy and utter helplessness which follow when disaster strikes," said Mrs. Pierre.

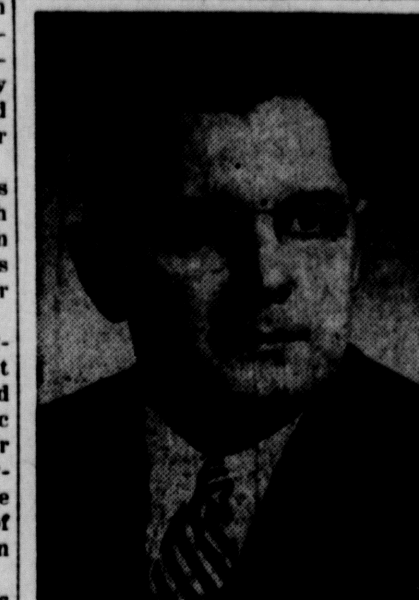

"In Holland, Belgium and England for the past several weeks it has been the fury of uncontrolled sea waters which created havoc and drove thousands out of their homes. Here in Bucks County, during the past month, four fires, one of them resulting in the death of two children, have left behind them a trail of local tragedy."

"But whether it was the disasters close to home or the floods in Europe, in each case the Red Cross was on the scene, giving immediate help and arranging for long-range rehabilitation," concluded Mrs. Pierre.

Mr. Dunn, in discussing the fires which occurred in this area between January 13 and February 3, declared:

"It's a great tribute to the neighborliness of Bucks County residents just to go over the details of the recent fires and to see how eagerly help was extended. In Bristol, Trevose, Yardley and Morrisville, scenes of the fires, the community responded immediately and helped the fire victims."

The most serious fire occurred on January 27, when nine families were made homeless by the blaze which demolished an apartment house in Lincoln Park, Trevose. Two children were burned to death in this fire.

Immediately after the tragedy neighbors began collecting clothing for the fire victims. Volunteer workers from the Southampton district of the Red Cross disaster committee supplemented these gifts with more clothing, shoes and food orders. The families were given shelter by neighbors. The Red Cross is continuing to give assistance.

On January 30, fire destroyed the Executive Board Plans PTA Family Party Night

At the meeting of the executive board of Bristol Parent-Teachers Ass'n, held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Philip Paolella, plans were made for Tuesday evening's P.T.A. session in Bristol high school.

This is arranged as a "family party night", with parents and children invited to share in the sociability between seven and nine o'clock. A business meeting will be brief.

Those attending will have opportunity to participate in square dancing. Dances will be "called" by Dominic Sagolla, physical education director of Bristol elementary classes. He will also give special exhibition of folk dancing by elementary pupils. Refreshments will be served.

After the executive session Wednesday, pinocle was played. Guests were Mrs. William Harmon and Mrs. William DeGroot. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Pasquale DiLorenzo and Mrs. Paolella.

Ferry to Get Democratic Approval for Tax Collector Fifth Ward Councilman Will Have Party's Endorsement

Democrats in Bristol Borough are rapidly ironing out their difficulties, according to well informed sources. It was stated today that Philip Waters' duties, during his illness, will be taken over by Robert Coles.

Coles will apparently officiate at the meeting tonight of the Democratic committeemen and committeewomen to complete their slate of candidates to be offered at the Primary, May 19th. It is stated that the party will offer only one candidate for the office of tax collector and that, that candidate will be Joseph Ferry, who is now a fifth ward councilman. Dominic Roberto is not to seek the office apparently.

Jesse Vanzant has been given the o. k. as the party's candidate for justice-of-the-peace. It is expected that a complete slate will be agreed upon this evening and will probably be announced tomorrow or Monday.

The second ward Republicans had a withdrawal last evening, when Louis Ross, who had stated his willingness to be a candidate for council from that ward had changed his mind and informed the Republican committeemen from the district, that he does not desire to be a candidate.

Joseph DeLissio, fifth ward councilman, said last evening, that he is not a candidate for reelection to the office. He has served four years.

SNORKELS AND CHEESE

One rather harrowing passage of a book by a former nazi submarine commander tells of cruising 60-odd days underwater while fleeing to Argentina at the end of World War II. The men's skin became ghastly white, then greenish, and was covered with sores. Moss formed on the interior bulkheads of the sub. South Atlantic sun and sea air saved them from death, or madness, or both.

Stories galore have been written about the passions and personality quirks that show up when men are penned together. The Navy is currently making a study of the health and behavior of a submarine crew, and has reached the half way mark in a scheduled two month "cruise" submerged.

Of course the cruise is limited to the slight motion of the Thames River, which flows by the New London, Conn., sub base. Doctors and scientists enter an air lock on the moored sub daily and run exhaustive checks on the psychological and physiological well being of the entire crew.

The significance of the experiment is that the Navy has on the drawing board submersibles which will not be compelled to surface for weeks or months at a time. With most of the mechanical and scientific problems licked, the only unknown factor is the human one.

All the Navy will say is that the bodies of the crew seem to show a slight increase in the amount of carbon dioxide that has been absorbed. This is the result of confinement in close quarters even though natural air and raw oxygen is being pumped in. The amount being absorbed doesn't appear to be dangerous.

Most interesting to the layman, perhaps, are the whims and moods of the men who are forced to live so close together. They eat of the best and with excellent appetites, even though they do little or no exercising. The crew is on what a Navy medic calls "a cottage cheese kick" — they cannot seem to get enough of it. Does the carbon dioxide create a deficiency that only this dairy product will correct? Does living cooped up make the men dream secretly of green pastures, cows and cow products?

Despite the light hearted approach to this experiment there are grim overtones. The nation is readying sentries along all its frontiers, and the immense expanse of watery border is one of the least adequately guarded. Experiments involving men, snorkels and cottage cheese may help correct this deficiency.

The world is eagerly grasping at the straw of hope that the bear that walks like a man will now begin to devour itself.

Latest thing in psychology is called pedophobia, meaning fear of one's own children. What's new about that?

COMMUNICATION

Editor Courier:

In explanation of the story published in The Courier Thursday evening headed "Fire Chief Rescues Four Children", I want to say that the four children were rescued by a man whose identity I did not learn. I was at a service station directly opposite the Acme Market at the time. I saw smoke coming from a car on the parking lot. I went to the scene. The doors of the car were open and no one in the car. An unidentified man was extinguishing the blaze, ripping out the upholstery to do so. At this time, Fire Chief Clifford Hagerman arrived at the scene.

NIGHT LIGHTS

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The National Street and Traffic Safety Lighting bureau announces that proper lighting for the nation's streets can save lives, property and two billion dollars annually. The bureau reports that 75 to 80 percent of all crimes occur at night and points out that cities having adequate lighting have had crime reductions ranging from 70 to 90 percent.

PLANT FOOD

PHILA. — (INS) — A new soluble plant food composed mainly of nitrogen, will enable the home-plant grower to fertilize his plants by spraying them. Developers of the new product claim that the new fertilizer (available this spring) is particularly desirable during the summer drought. At that time ordinary fertilizer must be made soluble by soil moisture before it can be taken up by root systems.

Waterman noted that the Board approved enough money—$10,000—to organize the Family Service which will provide counseling service of a type that is both "badly needed and nearly non-existent" in most parts of Bucks County today.

Also approved at the meeting was a county-wide organization plan as proposed by the Executive Director, Adrian P. Hoffman. "The plan," Waterman said, "calls for setting up three steering committees, one each in Upper, Central, and Lower Bucks County." Each committee will be headed by a Federation vice-president, he pointed out. "Their purpose," Waterman said, "will be to gather and present to the administrative office vital information regarding services, agencies, potential sources of revenue, business and industrial activity, and other data in their respective areas."

The Board of Directors will then channel this information to its various operational committees for action. It was pointed out that the area steering committee would be made up only of residents of the area involved who are familiar with the needs and problems of their locale.

Seven operational committees were established by the Board, it was learned. Given the power to act within the framework of policy laid down by the Board, they are: Public Relations, Campaign, Council of Social Agencies, Budget and Admissions, Administrative and Personnel, Accounts, and Procedures.

To implement the plan, the president was authorized to establish an Action Committee. Named to this committee are: Miss Leaneor Berton, E. W. Rounds, H. N. Crocker, Miles K. Fisher, and W. B. McCluer. Climaxing a five-month series of meetings and discussion by representatives of over 50 health, welfare and recreation agencies, a Council of Social Agencies will be formally organized March 30.

This was disclosed by Ralph B. Dwinell, Langhorne, Chairman of the Council's Sponsoring Committee following the Board Meeting of the Bucks County United Services Federation in Newtown, Wednesday.

Dwinell said that all local and state welfare groups with programs in Bucks County would be invited to attend the organization party, which will be held at 8 p. m. in the Swartzlander House, Doylestown. Election of officers and establishment of working committees will highlight the meeting.

"The Council program has two main phases," Dwinell said, "first, coordinate existing activities so that duplication or overlapping of services may be kept to a minimum. Second, to plan for services that the Federation steering groups and our own studies may demonstrate are vitally needed."

He pointed out that the Council program is necessarily a long-term one, but that it was "the only approach to our problems."

The Council is part of the two-fold purpose of the United Services Federation, it was said. Raising funds for certain agencies through the annual Community Chest Campaign is the companion purpose. Over $85,000 was allocated to Community Chest agencies as a result of the first campaign held in November of 1952.

Zachary Taylor became the 12th President of the U. S., Mar. 5, 1849.

home and contents of Mrs. Bertha Howard, 1012 Court st., Bristol Township. Mrs. Howard, widow, and her four children are being helped by the Red Cross whose disaster workers were on the scene to give emergency aid.

On February 2, Freeman Charles and his wife, Mary, watched their home at Litchworth ave., Yardley, burn to the ground. The couple and a grandson, William Huber, 15, lost not only their home but also all their clothing and furniture.

The Yardley Red Cross disaster chairman arranged for them to get coats and bedclothing and gave them an order for food. The Yardley Junior Red Cross outfitted the boy with clothing. The family is now living in New Jersey with relatives, but the Red Cross is continuing its aid until they can rehabilitate themselves.

In Morrisville at 1:30 on the morning of February 3, fire completely demolished a trailer belonging to Clyde Baird.

Baird, his wife, Glendoris, and their three youngsters were left with only their night clothes. The Morrisville Red Cross disaster unit went promptly into action. Clothing, shoes and food were furnished the family while neighbors extended their hospitality.

In reviewing these recent cases of aid extended by the Southern Pennsylvania Red Cross Chapter and its branch disaster committees, Dunn said:

"Too many people think that a disaster is only a disaster when it affects thousands of people at one time. Our folks in Bucks County know better. It's just as much a disaster when only one family is left homeless and hungry."

meeting place in Levittown for organizations of the community." He invited residents of the Falls twp. section of Levittown to join the company, stating that the membership is restricted to that area so as not to interfere with recruiting and support of other companies in the vicinity. The initiation fee is $5, with dues $2 per year. The fees are set at that level.

Francis said, "because the fire company must be established within a residential area, and has no industries or businesses to call on for financial support."

The firemen will meet the third Monday of each month, Francis said, with special meetings whenever needed. All prospective members have been invited to the meetings. The Fairless Hills and Falls twp. firemen have offered their buildings as meeting places, Francis said, whenever they are available.

The immediate objectives of the Levittown-Falls firemen, their president said, are to get members, to get funds, to get a firehouse and to get a charter. The Falls twp. supervisors, Francis said, have offered to give the new company $1,000 a year, effective as soon as it is chartered.

The Levittown firemen are also looking for a qualified fire chief, and have been urged by Graham to appoint a man with five to ten years fire-fighting experience.

KITCHEN CLUES

By Olga Curtis
(INS Staff Correspondent)

More Color

Next year, the designers and manufacturers are predicting bigger and better things for your kitchen. You're sure to be offered much more color — and a wider choice of colors — not only in worktop surfaces, paints, wall decorations, china, glassware and cookware, but in major appliances too. Look for color on the inside of your refrigerator, for instance, or wall cabinets in color, as well as dinette tables and chairs in a variety of decorator shades.

In the food department, 1952 also was a year of improvements, and 1953 should be the same. The processed foods people knocked themselves out offering a new variety of canned and frozen foods. Delicacies from all over the world popped up on the American market, and not at fancy prices, either.

There were no actual shortages of foods, except the great potato disappearance of 1952, and that didn't last too long. In addition, droughts in many parts of the country cut down crops, but mostly on perishable, seasonal foods that didn't make too much of an impression on the over-all food supply.

Styling
This demand for attractive styling in a purely functional room — combined with the ever-increasing trend toward informal living — showed up in such 1952 improvements as color in kitchen equipment, better styling in china, cutlery and glassware, kitchen dinnette sets that ranked in good looks with any full-blown dining room set, and better cooking equipment — especially casseroles, handreds and hundreds of casseroles.

The manufacturers and designers didn't sacrifice utility to beauty. They couldn't afford to, because modern homes call for maximum efficiency in minimum space.

But the emphasis was definitely in favor of giving a woman a kitchen that was a living and entertaining area as well as a cooking unit. That meant more work-saving devices and more ways of using less work on kitchen standbys. This year you could buy pots and pans that not only were fine for cooking, but looked just as good as table serving pieces; stove compartments that rolled out on little casters wherever you needed them in the kitchen; toasters that not only toasted bread but melted butter at the same time; stove gas burner covers that doubled as trays; wall-bracket lights that swung to just where you needed them for a kitchen job; and of course the heating devices — from candles to electricity — that kept your food hot before serving right on the table.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA---

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

Bristol Borough

A group of 5th grade pupils from Wood and Bath street elementary schools will demonstrate a square dance on a televised show tomorrow at five p. m. The group will include: "Jack" Wieser, Carmella Marino, Barbara Lefferts, Isadore Morici, Lois Worth, Richard Cole, Ann Papatera, Kenneth Elbersen, Darla Fahinger, Albert Gilliam.

Square dancing was introduced to Bristol elementary school children this year by Joseph Sagolla, elementary physical education supervisor, to supplement their physical education program. Over 800 children from the 1st to the 7th grades have been receiving weekly dancing instruction.

This activity is designed to help the children develop rhythm and improve their muscular coordination. It also offers opportunity to work in groups and tests their ability to react accurately to rapid verbal instructions.

Central Bucks District

The senior class of 150 boys and girls of Central Bucks Joint High School, Doylestown, toured the shops and offices of the Standard Pressed Steel Co., in Jenkintown, Wednesday.

The visit was part of a three-day program sponsored jointly by SPS and Americans for the Competitive Enterprise System (ACES), an organization devoted to demonstrating the superiority of this country's competitive system.

Seventy-five of the students made the tour in the morning and the rest in the afternoon. Allan George, instructor in social studies at the school, was in charge.

On the first day of the program, last Monday, the seniors were addressed at the high school by Joseph P. Villo, superintendent of form and finish at SPS.

The program concludes tomorrow (Friday) when the class will be again addressed at the school by William M. Briner, Jr., supervisor of industrial relations at SPS.

There was a similar program, including a tour of SPS, a year ago for the class of 1952 of Doylestown High School, predecessor of Central Bucks Joint High School.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Edward G. Yeoman's Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

Almighty God, the Creator and Father of all mankind, we humbly come into Thy presence invoking Thy divine blessing and the fellowship of Thy Holy Spirit. We thank Thee for the gift of Thy love in Jesus Christ, Thy Son, who is unto us the Way, the Truth and the Light. May we find in Him the way into Thy presence, that we might seek Thy forgiveness, Thy guidance, and Thy blessings; that we might come to know Thee better as our loving heavenly Father. May we see Thee revealed in Him, as we behold His compassion and know of Thy long suffering, as we behold Him in His forgiveness; and know that Thou art just and faithful to forgive all those who confess their sins unto Thee in His name. May we come to know that more abundant life as we embrace Him as our personal Lord and Saviour. Forgive us, we again beseech Thee for the many sins we have committed and therein have grieved Thee. We pray this in Jesus name. Amen.

NEWS OF THE LEVITTOWN COMMUNITY

Hold Up Delivery Of Mail In 2 Areas

Street Signs Must First Be Installed and Approaches Hard-Surfaced

Mail cannot be delivered in Birch Valley and Thornridge sections of Levittown until street signs are installed and hard surface approaches extended to the houses. Lawrence M. Mulligan, Bristol postmaster said today. Residents of those two sections must come to Bristol Post Office for their mail. Special delivery to their homes is available.

Mulligan said the signs and house approaches are two of the requirements of the U. S. Post Office Department for instituting city delivery service. Another requirement is that 50 per cent of the houses in each street block be occupied. Delivery in the other sections was started block by block, he said, and spread to each street as it met the occupancy requirements.

The Levittown Branch Post Office, to be located in building three of the shopping center, Mulligan said, is expected to be set up "late in May or in the early part of June."

PAINTING TIP

Remember to do the underside or the inside of a piece of furniture first when you start a paint job. You can't get at those areas when the rest of the furniture is covered with wet paint. With chairs and small tables, the best idea is to turn them upside down and do the under sections, then turn them right side up and finish the job.

Frye Announces Plan To Retire From Game Commission

Thomas D. Frye, executive director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, announced while attending the recent North American Wildlife Conference in Washington, D. C., that he would retire from the service in October of this year.

Frye, who held several important positions during his long service with the Commonwealth, said he had revealed to the Commission more than a year ago his plan to retire.

When asked to comment on his retirement, Frye said: "I shall always retain a deep interest in the wildlife management work of my state, and as an ardent sportsman I look forward to enjoying the fine hunting and fishing Pennsylvania affords." Frye, who lives in Camp Hill, succeeded Seth Gordon as executive director of the Game Commission in September, 1934. He visited Bucks County on at least one occasion when he was the guest of the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.
